Senate Meeting Shows New Council

Student Association held its first meeting of the year Wednesday, Sept. 11, at 5:30 p.m. in the Regent's Room of the Student Center. The meeting was called to order by Brian Box and roll call was given by Lori Frantz. Box welcomed all members and asked them each to stand and introduce themselves. The attendance policy was reviewed along with how to make a motion on the floor.

Minutes from the Executive Council meeting were read. The budget was gone over, along with gift certificates from downtown merchants, and the possibility of having professional wrestling on campus Nov. 11.

The treasurer's report was given by Bryan Miller, who stated the current balance of the budget after enrollment to be $13,889.00. Committee reports were started off by Kay Green with the Homecoming Committee report. This year's theme will be "Back to the Good 'Ole Days."

Danna Teeter, co-activities director, reminded everyone of the Bulldog Beach Bash, Thursday, Sept. 12, and of the dance to follow. Publicity co-director Lance Sandlin reported that the marquee had been updated.

This year's Blood Drive is set for Oct. 14-15 in the Ballroom of the Student Center. Brian Box then gave a brief description of the committees and encouraged everyone to sign up for at least one.

Steve Griffin made a motion that Cindy Thomas, Mitch Fuller, Angie Smith, and Dena Morrison be accepted to the Student Senate. The motion was approved. Box made a motion that the Executive Council and the International representatives be accepted to the Senate positions. This motion was also passed.

Under new business, a motion was made to accept a tardy policy which would state that if any member is late to two meetings, that this would count as an absence. Motion passed.

Announcements were made concerning the State Fair of Oklahoma which will run from Sept. 20-29. Student Senate pays for one-half of the booth so discussion on manning the booth took place.

The Bulldog Beach Bash was Thursday from 1 p.m. to 12 a.m., and the Pep Rally was at 7:30 p.m. The first home football game was announced, along with the Art Show at Means Park.

Is Drinking Abusive

"Do you often prefer to drink alone rather than with others? Are your grades starting to slip? Are you goofing on the job?"

"Do you ever try to stop drinking, or drink less, and fail? Have you begun to drink in the morning--before school or work?"

"Do you ever have loss of memory because of drinking? Do you avoid leveling with others about your drinking? Do you ever get in trouble with the law when you drink?"

"Do you get drunk when you drink, even when you don't mean to?"

"If you can answer yes to just one of these questions, maybe it is time to look at what drinking might be doing to you. It is not a matter of how long you have been drinking, but what drinking might be doing to you.

"Alcoholism is a tough word to deal with, but no one is too young, too old, too poor or too rich to have trouble with booze. Ask yourself, 'What is alcohol doing to me?'"

Al-Anon, a group consisting of friends and family members of alcoholics, meets Thursday night at 8 p.m. at the same address.

The Weatherford Alcoholics Anonymous group is starting a student night at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 25.

SCUBA Diving Fun

By DANNA TEETER

DIVERS DO IT DEEPER! For many SWOSU students, figuring out this phrase from experience is beginning to happen. Dr. Ken Rose, Outdoor Specialist at Southwestern, conducts Scuba classes every semester. Mondays from 6-8 and 8-10 p.m. Classes are in progress for the semester and held at the college pool.

Students begin their adventures by learning what equipment is good, what is needed, and a few that are just fun to have. Gills then begin to grow on each individual as water tests and laps are experienced. Four hundred yards of swimming is attempted each class time along with fundamentals of the sport.

An important endeavor to learn are the three entries: stride entry, seated entry, and roll entry. All are practiced with attaining perfection in mind. After entries are reviewed, swimming with mask, fins and snorkel is entered into the program. Laps of swimming with these items and learning how to "buddy breath" with the snorkel is practiced. Hard work is put into learning the different skills of scuba diving, as it is now time in class to begin soaking up knowledge on the parts and uses of the scuba tanks and equipment.

Once the thrill of having a tank, regulator, buoyancy compensator, mask, fins, and snorkel strapped upon one's body arrives, the real excitement and adventure begins...BREATHING UNDER WATER! Playing with the equipment and familiarizing one's self is an important factor.

The class, as a whole, begins to ditch and dawn, a process of leaving equipment at the bottom of the pool, retrieving it, and placing it on yourself correctly with out coming to the surface. This is done for "just in case" measures. Scuba is a safe sport but like other sports there is a possible risk involved. The next learning step is to "buddy breath" with a partner. One regulator is used and constant contact is kept with the "buddy" --another safety factor learned in the case of a regulator malfunctioning. One reason why the rule of "NEVER swim or dive alone" is a good policy to use.

Those attending the class have the option of being certified or not being certified. It is a personal decision that only the student can make. This October, potential divers will plunge into the murky waters at Possum Kingdom. Any certified diver is welcome to dive but must have respect for those who are taking their tests.

At the lake, divers-to-be will get the feel of being really "geared up," as wet suits, not experienced during class are worn along with the equipment already tackled. That's a new feeling in itself, according to divers for the first time.

All dives are logged in log books that each student and diver must own. Certification cards are sent to those who successfully complete their open water dives.

After the certification has been mailed and received the new diver is able to venture into areas of adventure and mystery with ponds, lakes, oceans, and seas being targets tackled by divers. Scuba, unlike many certifications is a lifetime certificate. Refresher courses, for those who haven't taken "the plunge" in a while is recommended. Anyone who is interested in joining the group of future divers is encouraged. Again, classes are offered each semester. One forwarning word from those who have already experienced the underneath...It's FUN, FUN, FUN!!!

COACH LARRY GEURKINK

Geurkink Outlines Player Requirements

"A student athlete is my number-one requirement," says Coach Geurkink, Southwestern's baseball coach. "Any player that is disciplined enough to make good grades is disciplined enough to make a good player."

"When I watch a player for recruiting purposes, I look at four areas--his running, his hitting, his throwing, and his fielding ability. I rate a player's running ability by how fast he runs the sixty-yard dash. I test a player's arm in two ways. An infielder throws from third base to first base and an outfielder throws a distance of 275 feet from outfield to home plate. Since the ability to hit and field must be observed in a practice situation, I give them a day of each."

Although a player's ability means a great deal, "his attitude means even more," says Geurkink. "The great players think, 'I will do what it takes to be the best.'"

This summer Coach Geurkink signed a player named Jeff Decker from Seminole. "Jeff displays many of the qualities that make a player great. Jeff is also one of many players that I recruited from right here in Oklahoma. This is where my roots are, and I feel that Oklahoma has enough good players that it is not necessary for me to recruit out-of-state. Since most of my players are from around here, when they graduate most of them remain in Oklahoma, which makes our alumni very close."

Although he is operating on a very limited budget, Geurkink has several options to offer a player in the financial area. One is a full scholarship. Financial help can be offered through a work-study program, or if a student's grade point average is 2.5 or better, he can qualify for what is known as a fee waiver.

Coach Geurkink said, "If a player is good enough and is willing to work, I can find a way to help him financially, but the key is being willing to work."

Even though he is working on a limited budget, Geurkink has been successful in his recruiting. His success shows up in the fact that over the nine years he has been at Southwestern there have been five players go on to play pro ball, with two of the most recent being Mike Shelton and Kris Roth.

Each ball player like Mike and Kris return to their old stomping

Garrison Contributes To Band

By DAMON KELLY

"I'd like to teach school on the East coast after graduation because band and drum corps are prominent in the schools out there," says Keith Garrison, fifth year Okmulgee senior and Drum Major of the SWOSU Band.

Keith plays the french horn in band ensembles and is very active in the band fraternity, Kappa Kappa Psi, as the Reporter Historian, which takes pictures of the band performances during the year.

"If I didn't have the support of the band and all the people involved I wouldn't be doing well at all. I give a lot of credit to all of them for working hard together and accepting me as their leader because I'm not any better than anyone else out there," Garrison explained.

"I think the band is doing well this year. We are so much more advanced this year compared to last year at this time. We have three drills down now; last year at this time we had one drill and a standstill number. We have a full show lined up and ready to go."

The Band's only road trip this season will be to Denver, Colorado, where they will conduct the half time ceremonies of the Denver Broncos football game on September 27th. Keith said, "We're all hoping the half time ceremonies will be televised on national television. The possibility of being on national television is a real thrill for all of us."

Keith claims he has it easy this semester by only carrying 13 hours. "This is one of the lightest semesters I've had since I've been in school," said Garrison. In his spare time, Keith works for the Thomas public schools instructing the drum majors and rifle corps. "It's good experience for me working at something I plan to do after school," Keith explained. "I give lots of credit to Dr. Jurrens, of course, and Dr. O'Brian for influencing me and the rest of the band to work hard and be the best at what we do."

For the returners, it is a chance to unite as a team, and for Coach Geurkink, it offers a chance to look back on all the players he has recruited over the years. The game also makes for a good time and as the coach says, "Isn't that what life is all about?"

Bulldogs Run Over Eastern New Mexico 25-14

The Southwestern Oklahoma State University Bulldogs racked up 394 yards of total offense and in a mild upset defeated the Eastern New Mexico Greyhounds Saturday night 25-14.

Neither the 'Dawgs nor the Greyhounds moved the ball successfully on their opening drives. After Deven Cross booted a 47-yard blast into the end zone, Eastern New Mexico brought the ball out to the twenty. On the first play from scrimmage Bryan Cooper recovered a mishandled delivery that gave the Bulldogs great field position on the 17-yard-line.

Speedy Hicks, Lonnie May, and Lamar Mina moved the ball down to the four-yard-line on four rushing plays. On a second-and-four play freshman quarterback Todd Hudson took the ball over, the extra point attempt failed, and the 'Dawgs led 6-0 with 9:29 remaining in the first quarter.

Eastern New Mexico started their next drive on their own 20-yard-line. After moving the ball to the 36, Evans, the ENM quarterback, completed a 34-yard-pass to Hargers to put the ball on the Southwestern 30. The Greyhounds moved the ball down to the 25 in three plays. On a fourth-and-five situation, the place-kicker Hussein attempted a forty-two-yard field goal that was blocked by Randy Webster. On the first play of the next drive, Lonnie May fumbled to give the ball back to the Greyhounds on the 25. Evans lofted a pass to Harden in the end zone and with Hussein's extra point, ENM led 7-6.

Southwestern's next drive was unsuccessful, and Deven Cross put a 44-yard punt into the end zone. The 'Hounds had moved to the 32-yard-line but two penalties moved them back to the 49. On a third-and-twenty-seven play, Evans fumbled and Willie Pennon recovered for the 'Dawgs on the ENM 47. On a third-and-seven play Hudson connected with Mike Kroeker for a 22-yard completion. On a third-and-three play from the 15, Speedy Hicks moved the ball down to the four. On the next play Hudson connected with Lonnie May for a four-yard completion and TD. The two-point conversion attempt failed and with 12:51 remaining in the half Southwestern led 12-7.

Eastern New Mexico wasted no time in moving down the field. On a second-and-fifteen play Evans sent a bomb to the split-end Allen for a 61-yard gain down to the 15. Three plays later Evans found Harden in the end zone. With the point after, the 'Hounds led again 14-12.

The next ENM series actually belonged to the SWOSU defense. The 'Hounds were deep in Bulldog territory. On first and second down Marty Irland and Randy Webster sacked the quarterback Evans. On a third-and-nine play from the nine Irland intercepted an Evans pass and moved the ball to the 12.

The drive moved the ball to the 30-yard-line, but on a fourth-and-four play, Ardeshir Rezaie's 47-yard field goal attempt fell short.

ENM went three plays before they lost the ball again, capped off by an interception by Simmy Cooley that moved the ball to the 14. Four plays later Lonnie May punched it in from the one. The two-point try failed and with :06 seconds remaining in the half, the hometown boys were going to go into the locker room leading 18-14.

The final score came in the third quarter. After John Dill intercepted an ENM pass, the 'Dawgs marched down the field in six plays, capped off by a 25-yard run by freshman James Hicks. With Rezaie's extra point, the Bulldogs had the end result of a 25-14 victory.

The Bulldogs ran 67 rushing plays for a total of 328 yards on the ground, and Todd Hudson completed four of ten passes for 66 yards in the air and one interception. The 'Dawgs had 17 first downs to ENM's nine, and Southwestern lost four fumbles and the Greyhounds three. Individual rushing had Lonnie May carrying 18 times for 116 yards, Speedy Hicks ran 22 times for 93, James Hicks 12 times for 87, Todd Hudson nine times for 17, and Lamar Mina ran six times for 15 yards. In the receiving category, Felix Melendez caught two passes for 39 yards, Mike Kroeker had one grab for 22 yards, and Lonnie May had one pass for five yards and a touchdown.

On defense, John Dill, Simmy

Cooley, Marty Irland, and Joe Don Litsch all had an oskie (interception). Randy Simmons led the way in tackles with six, Marty Irland and John Dill had four, Willie Pennon, Bryan Cooper, Randy Webster, Sam Woodfork, and Jeff Jackson had three and a score of players had one.

The Bulldogs now stand 1-0 and must face a tough team in Missouri Southern. That game will kick off at 7 p.m. at Milam Stadium on Saturday.
